

HOW DO I EMBED BUILD UP CONTENT?

Presenting relevant content regarding your area of interest directly on your website has never been easier. You can now select and publish customised content from the BUILD UP web portal on your own website by creating an embedded page.

How will my organisation benefit?

Automatically generated content boosts the activity on your website by increasing the volume and pace of publication. It furthermore ensures that you have the latest relevant content directly on your doorstep, enhancing the reputation of your organisation as a key player in the energy efficiency of buildings.

How to get embedded pages?

The content will be synchronised automatically and provide additional inputs to your position by disseminating good practices and information of your area of expertise.

You can choose among twenty topics currently available on BUILD UP webportal such as legislation and standards, energy performance measurement and certification, technology and materials or even training and education

Follow five simple steps to embed BUILD UP on your web page and generate the customised embed code.
